CROWDS THROUGH THE STREETS

Many People Down Town
Last Night Marvel
at the Show
Windows

Although the Home Made Week exhibition which is undoubtedly the most ambitious municipal advertising plan ever put into effect in La Crosse, does not officially open until tonight, the crowds, which spent last evening viewing the displays already in the windows, furnished ample proof that the affair is to be an unequalled and unusual success.

Exclamations of delight, wonder and appreciation were heard on all hands as the crowds thronged the sidewalks in front of the blazing windows. The crowds were so thick that the effort of photographers to secure night pictures of the beautifully lighted windows had to be postponed until late in the evening and then it was a difficult undertaking.

Stores Decorated
Downtown stores today blossomed out in flags and bunting in commemoration of the occasion and the work is not yet completed. Many of the stores have made elaborate additions to their lighting facilities through the courtesy and assistance of the Gas and Electric company which furnishes the extra lamps and reflectors. The buildings shown as though with pride over the display of La Crosse made products. And the pride is not to be wondered at for but a very few of the people in the crowds had the slightest idea of the extent of the manufacturing industry of their home city. Factories that have never been heard of by the majority of citizens have developed a large and thriving business and their products displayed in the merchants' windows are eloquent testimonials of their success.

Textiles, food stuffs, iron and steel products from stoves to complicated machines, clothing, novelties, beverages, furniture, fixtures and art work, the product of the industry of nearly one hundred of the 125 factories and shops of the city, are on exhibition. The articles range from rubber stamps to rubber boots, from hand moulded biscuits to cast iron fixtures, from fancy silk dress goods to tents and awnings, from candy to gas engines and as one views the many things made in La Crosse the idea gains hold that if the city were cut off from the rest of the world its citizens would manage to get along on their own products with a degree of comfort and luxury.

The merchants have been generous in the extreme with their window space and have not only turned over every available inch to the manufacturers but have furnished men and time in helping them place the exhibits. They have freely offered of their ideas in placing the displays to the best advantage and are spending no little amount in making special efforts to illuminate the displays at night by extra lighting fa-

Teddy's Famous Friends Will Testify That He's Temperate; Big Men To Aid Colonel In Libel Case

Men of national reputation will testify in behalf of Theodore Roosevelt in his libel suit against George A. Newett, publisher of the Ishpeming (Mich.) Iron Ore, who said in his paper that Roosevelt was a drunkard, and that he lied and cursed in a most disgusting way. Among those who will testify as to the colonel's temperate habits are Robert Bacon, former secretary of state and former ambassador to France; James R. Garfield, former secretary of commerce and labor; William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York and former secretary to Colonel Roosevelt when he was president, and Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry bureau during the last Roosevelt administration.

BALKAN ALLIANCE HAS INTERNAL WAR

Greece and Servia Standing

PEACE SEEMS LONG WAY OFF

New Turn of Affairs Puts Powers Face to Face with Serious Problem

LONDON, May 27.—Peace in the Balkans today seemed a long way off and the Balkan alliance which held together long enough to bring about the defeat of Turkey, apparently is on the verge of disintegration, before the allies reap the fruits of the costly victory. In fact, a new Balkan war more serious perhaps than the fight against the Moslems, now is imminent.

In diplomatic circles Servia's representations to Bulgaria amount to an ultimatum, and as the government at Sofia is said to be not likely to grant the demands of Servia, the alliance is apt to be broken insofar as it applies to Bulgaria and Servia. Although it was said that no fighting was going on today, Greece and Bulgaria are still in a state of war around Salonika, and it is believed that these two states will break the pact.

It is believed that Greece and Servia are mutually relying on each other for aid in opposing the Bulgars, and that therefore the Bulgarian peace plenipotentiary now in London is authority for the declaration that Bulgaria regards the present situation as "intolerable" and will yield neither to Servia nor Greece.

The dissolution of the Balkan alliance would be a serious problem for the powers. Great Britain would probably side with Bulgaria, but the attitude of France and Russia is not known, nor have the powers of the triple alliance indicated how they would stand, should the Balkan states get into serious strife.

DENY WAR PREPARATIONS

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A complete official denial that the United States is preparing for war was made by an American news agency to Japan and printed in Japanese newspapers, was sent the American embassy at Tokio by Secretary of State Bryan today. The report, which emanated from San Francisco, detailed that troops and artillery were being sent to Hawaii and the Philippine garrison was being rapidly strengthened.

TRIBUNE FLAGS FOR EVERYBODY

ners Given Away to All to

SCHOOLS TO HOLD SERVICES

Program Announced for Graded Schools and for the High School as Well

Beginning at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon THE TRIBUNE will give American flags to all who wish to wear them on Decoration day.

We want the school children, in particular, to come and get a flag and to wear it in honor of those who fought to save the schools as well as for every other institution that is part of the republic.

The old soldiers, through Judge Edward Cronon, have made an especial appeal to the children, and to all citizens, to wear flags Friday, and it will be indeed appropriate for us to comply with the wishes of veterans who are marching in the last Memorial day parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. Get a flag, and get in line.

Judge Edward Cronon, who has in charge the Memorial program, announced today that the various ward schools of the city will hold memorial exercises Thursday afternoon and that members of the three G. A. R. posts of the city are planning on attending. It is the hope of the committee that at least one veteran will be present at each memorial program in the city.

"It is not so much that the children wish to hear the old soldiers speak at these exercises," said Mr. Cronon, "but they like to have them present as they go through their programs, and it surely will be a pleasure to the veterans to hear the children in their patriotic entertainment."

The program at the high school will also be given Thursday afternoon and at the normal school Thursday at 10:30 a. m. Judge Cronon today repeated his request that all citizens and especially the school children wear button-hole flags as a token of respect to both the victims and the survivors of the country's wars. He declared that nothing could be done to better please the old soldiers on their one day of the year.

Morris and Company Officially Sees Close Connection Between Poverty and Vice

CHICAGO, May 28.—Armed with admissions from two heads of big packing plants that every girl worker should receive at least $7.50 a week if she is to feed and clothe herself properly, the Illinois senate vice commission today planned to renew its campaign for a minimum wage law.

The admissions came from Louis F. Swift, head of Swift & Company, and C. L. Charles, assistant superintendent of Morris & Company.

"I do not think that $8 a week is an excessive amount for a girl to spend for her board, lodging and clothes," said the millionaire head of Swift & Company, in response to a question. "A wage law fixing a minimum of $7.50 a week would better the conditions of the majority of the girls in the packing industry."

The question was put to Charles directly. "Are you in favor of a minimum wage bill of $7.50 a week?" he was asked.

"Yes, I think it would be a good thing," was Charles' answer. "Certainly it should not be less than $7.50 a week."

Swift had some doubts as to the connection between low wages and the ruin of young girls. He thought the connection at best was only indirect. But the Morris & Company official had no such doubts.

"Do you think a girl working for $4.50 a week more likely to go astray than one working at a better wage?" he was asked.

"I don't think there is any question about it," he responded.

M'GOVERN VETOES REFERENDUM BILL

Governor Refuses to Sign
Bill for Woman's Suffrage Vote in 1914

SAYS PEOPLE HAVE DECIDED

Fate of Measure at Last Election Is Executive's Reason for Disapproval

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—Governor McGovern today vetoed the Glenn bill for a referendum on woman's suffrage in 1914. The governor in his veto message recommends that the referendum be taken in 1916. The text of the veto message is as follows:

"To the Honorable, the Senate: 'I return herewith, without approval, bill No. 2258, entitled 'An act to amend section 12 of the statutes, extending the right of suffrage to women.'"

"At the recent presidential election a proposal to extend suffrage to women was defeated in this state by a majority of over 92,000 votes. Immediately to resubmit precisely the same question for determination by the voters at the approaching state election cannot be justified."

Article 3, section 1, of the constitution of Wisconsin, enumerates the classes of persons entitled to vote and continues as follows:

"Provided that the legislature may at any time extend by law the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated; but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election."

"The method whereby a change in this part of the constitution may be secured thus differs from that for bringing about amendment of any other portion of our fundamental law mainly in requiring favorable legal action at a single session of the legislature, instead of by the concurrence of two succeeding legislatures in support of a joint resolution. But here as in other cases the popular vote must be taken at a general election—not necessarily the next succeeding general election, but any general election. In other words, this legislature may provide by law for the resubmission of this question at the November election in 1914, 1916, or any later time."

"It seems to be no good reason can be given for the immediate resubmission of the proposed amendment. Since the decisive vote of last November the general situation with respect to woman suffrage in Wisconsin has not changed. At least nothing has occurred to justify a belief that if this issue were immediately resubmitted to the people the majority against it would not be even larger than before. The result of the recent election in Michigan is some indication that this would be the case. From the vote taken here it is evident that our people do not consider the experience of the Rocky mountain states, such as Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming, relevant or even enlightening. Very recently, however, other states comparable to our own in population, social conditions, and industrial development, such as Kansas, California and Washington, have decided to try the experiment. But their experience is yet altogether too brief to afford any indication of what we should do."

If this question be again forced upon the people of Wisconsin for decision at the election in November, 1914, they will be compelled to act upon it with no more information to guide them than they had last year. If, however, the vote be deferred until 1916 or later there is a chance at least that the experience of other states similar in many respects to our own may furnish guidance not available now."

"But this is not all. Wisconsin stands for popular rule. We have faith in the judgment and good sense of the average voter. We believe in the initiative and referendum. But if the referendum is a good thing, manifestly the results of a referendum vote should be properly respected. Such respect will not be shown if almost as soon as the outcome of last year's vote upon this subject has been announced exactly the same proposal be immediately resubmitted without a single new fact or argument to support it."

"An additional reason against hasty action in this matter is that an extension of suffrage such as this is a question of the highest importance to the state. It is a question which should be decided by the people at a general election, and not by a single vote of the legislature. (Continued on Page Six)

MOOSE CHIEFTAIN DENIES THAT HE WAS EVER DRUNK

"Not Teetotaler but Extremely Abstemious" He Describes Himself to the Jury

WINES SOMETIMES BUT NO WHISKY

Stuff in the Colonel's

(By Eugene McLean, staff correspondent of the United Press.)

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 27.—One of the most extraordinary statements ever made by a public man in an open gathering was made by Theodore Roosevelt today in court when he gave, almost in detail, a list of the alcoholic drinks he had swallowed in the course of his life.

Bending toward the jury, drawn from all sections of a hard drinking county, he jerked out a crisp, detailed denial that he is a drunkard or ever has been under the influence of drink.

George A. Newett, of Ishpeming, the editor whom Roosevelt is suing for $10,000 damages for publication of charges against the colonel's sobriety, sat grimly listening as the witness told his tale.

"I am not a teetotaler," said the colonel, "but I am abstemious to the extreme."

"I never have been drunk in my life, nor in the slightest degree under the influence of alcohol."

This was his declaration of facts. His story, told to an intent and eager audience, covered the minutest details of his daily life as a soldier, governor, president, African hunter, contributing editor, and candidate for re-election. He told with whom and where he had tasted drink and specified how much was in a glass.

Spectators Smile
A smile stole over the faces of the spectators as he testified he never touched beer, whiskey or red wine. These are the only tipplings of the north peninsula of Michigan.

T. R. Is Guarded
The colonel today is guarded by Frank Tyree and "Jimmy" Sloan, who were secret service agents at the white house when Roosevelt was president. Last night, in the long session which completed the picking of the jury, the two men sat close to him.

A crank telegram received in the court room late yesterday was the partial cause.

"Do not proceed with this all important cause until I get there," wired an unknown crank.

It didn't bother Roosevelt but his numerous entourage insisted that as long as Tyree and Sloan are witnesses here anyhow, they might as well be useful.

The jury which will decide the issue marched into court this morning under guard of the sheriff and two special court officers. No chances are being taken with the jurymen, and they will not even be allowed to receive letters from their families until the trial is ended, unless the letters first are inspected by the judge.

The twelve men are hard fisted, wide shouldered men of the pioneer type for the most part.

Their average age is 35 years. It took a long procession of big Swedes, Danes, Frenchmen, Finns and Irishmen to leave enough stragglers in the jury box to make the legal dozen and the slow parade crept along from two until 11 p. m., when both sides announced themselves content.

Here they are: Joseph Robeau, 26, Ishpeming, teamster; Robert Bruce, 45, lumber boss in the Powell township forest; W. H. Mathews, 28, miner, of Ishpeming; William Pryor, 26, railroad fireman, of Marquette; Thos. Howard, 48, Chocolay, farmer; John A. Johnson, 36, Skandia, farmer; William Sharp, 33, Negaunee, teamster; Hustaf Pelsen, 32, country blacksmith; William Fass Bender, 28, Marquette, teamster; John Fredericksen, 31, Negaunee, miner; Andrew P. Johnson, 60, Humboldt, miner; William Garrow, 26, miner, in Ely township. Colonel Roosevelt sat until the end of the long session. Newett, the defendant, went home at the supper time adjournment. He showed marked signs of illness.

ALGEBRA PROBLEM KEY TO FREEDOM

FOND DU LAC, Wis., May 27.—Because James Howard, who claims to have been a school teacher in Manchester, England, thirty years ago, was able to solve a problem in mathematics he was discharged when arraigned before Justice Brewett, on Monday morning on a charge of having been drunk.

In order to test Howard's statement of his experience as an instructor, the court asked him: "If a third of six were three, what would a fourth of twenty be?"

After considerable figuring on the back of the warrant on which he was arrested, Howard announced that the answer was seven and one-half. He proved his answer by letting X represent the unknown quantity.

FLOWERS IN LAKE FOR DEAD SAILORS

MILWAUKEE, May 27.—Spring flowers were strewn upon the water of Lake Michigan on Sunday in honor of the naval heroes who lost their lives in the defense of their country. A hundred persons, representing patriotic societies, assisted in the ceremony, seeking the deep waters of the lake in the cutter Tuscarora, and scattering a wagon load of flowers upon the waves. The old soldiers attended church following an annual custom.

RUSHFORD MINN

The Commercial club committee which has the matter in charge, are perfecting plans for the annual Memorial day services with the aid of the few surviving members of the G. A. R. here in our city and its vicinity. During the past two years a number of our "boys in blue" have remained but four or five to aid in the annual services. Unless different plans are made from other years the exercises will be held at half-past two in the afternoon of the 30th.

Mrs. Karen Christensen, Mrs. Erickson and Mrs. Johnson and children of La Crosse are visiting at the home of Mr. Peter Larson, Mrs. Erickson being his sister and Mrs. Johnson his daughter.

Mrs. Charles Rasmussen and children of Morris, this state, are in the city, the guests of friends and relatives. Mrs. Rasmussen was formerly Miss Matilda Strand.

Mr. and Mrs. Brastad, who have been visiting at the Hendrickson home south of this city, have returned to their home in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Peterson of Stevens avenue have as a guest Miss Ethel Rude of Boston, who will spend her summer's vacation in this city.

Mrs. A. K. Hanson and her aunt, Mrs. Lee, were La Crosse visitors recently.

Miss Belle Viers has been a recent guest of her Houston friends. Frank and Ed Mohan were business visitors at St. Paul this week.

Jens Skarstad of Peterson transacted business here Thursday. No services were held at the Rushford Presbyterian church today, owing to the fact that the pastor, Rev. Bentley was unable to get home in time from the general assembly at Atlanta, Ga.

Martin Laumb and Albert Holle were La Crosse visitors Thursday.

Eddie Laugen, a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Laugen of this city has just been given the position of train dispatcher for the Southern Minnesota division at La Crosse. Although he will assume his duties only in the absence of the regular men when they are on their vacations, yet the position is one of which he may well be proud, since it shows that he is known to be trustworthy.

In accordance with their usual custom, the Ladies' Aid society of North Prairie will hold their annual picnic and auction sale in the grove near P. O. Vagan's home, on Friday, May 30. Dinner will be served and a cordial invitation is given all to attend and help in a worthy cause.

Mrs. Martin Laumb, who was recently operated upon for gall stones, is improving rapidly at the La Crosse hospital where she is confined.

Rev. N. S. Magleson will this evening deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of 1913. The address will be given at the Rushford Lutheran church in this city.

Even Tange has secured employment at Minneapolis and has gone there to commence his duties.

Mabel Smaby has been a recent guest of La Crosse relatives. Rudolph Berg of La Crosse has been the guest of his father and sister here.

Ed Reishus was a recent Peterson caller. Mrs. Helgemoe of Ferry street, suffered a second stroke of paralysis last Wednesday night at the home of her son Edwin, where she had just arrived to spend a few weeks. She had seemingly been in her usual health and had stood the nine mile ride out to the farm with little fatigue, when suddenly taken ill. At present reports she is in a critical condition.

George Bogum of Arendahl was a business caller in Rushford the past week.

The residence property on Ferry street, formerly owned by Christian Berg and recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Reishus, has again changed hands, the present owners being Mrs. Bjerke and daughters, who formerly resided southwest of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Reishus have purchased a home in Canada and will move to their new location in about two weeks.

Olaf Backman and children of Chisholm have arrived in this city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Backman.

Selmer Hoiland went down to La Crosse Saturday, where Mrs. Hoiland is taking treatments at one of the hospitals.

The Teachers' training school which is to be held at Rushford this summer will commence at 2 o'clock p. m., June 25, and will close July 30th. The courses purchased will be academic, industrial and professional and each department will be in charge of an instructor who has had special training to enable them to conduct these branches in the best possible way. Mr. Julius Borass of Northfield will be conductor and his assistants will be Superintendent Lord of Fairmount, Miss Ray of Austin, Miss Emery of Pine Island, Professor McIntosh of Caledonia and a special instructor in home economics, for one week. On July 2 a speaker who has been secured will discuss "Good Roads and How they Affect the School." The question of rural schools serving hot noon lunches will also be discussed and ways, means and menus be given. At least one reading circle book will be covered and certificates given thereon.

The Greek church does not condone the act of self-destruction, and according to the religion of his people, the Rev. Parthenios Kolonis of the Evangelical Orthodox church could say but a brief service over the body of the girl before it was taken through the rain to Evergreen cemetery for burial.

Even in death the unhappy girl was not free from bondage. Following the Greek custom in the case of suicides, her hands and feet were tied as she lay in the casket to prevent further wrong doing in another world till released by a Supreme power.

EXPLOSION ON CAR MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 27.—Mrs. Lawrence Roettinger, 30, was probably fatally injured in the panic that followed the explosion of a controller box on a Wells street car here today. CHINESE FLOOD BRITISH COLUMBIA

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 27.—In spite of the repeated protests of Premier McBride against oriental immigration and for a "white British Columbia," Chinese immigration for the fiscal year just ended reached the highest mark in the history of the dominion. The $500 entrance tax established to act as a brake on the rush from the orient failed in its intention, for 7,378 Chinese entered, paying to the government a total of $3,689,000, and 367 more were admitted as students.

Growing Children Need Good Bowels

Give a Mild Laxative Occasionally to Insure Regular Bowel Action

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constitute one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally. Mrs. Henry Babler, Van Dyne, Wis., writes that her little son, Melvin Babler, was constipated most of the time until she gave him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Since using this remedy he has never been constipated.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Brave Boy
Color Bearer
Of Gettysburg.

The Color Bearer Pressed Forward.

MEMORIAL day was at hand. Jack and Evelyn understood what it meant, for grandfather always took them out to the cemetery and showed them the graves on which little flags were fluttering and told them stories of the blue and the gray.

"Can't you tell us a soldier story, daddy?" the children asked. Daddy nodded; he was thinking.

"Fifty years ago was fought the great battle of Gettysburg," he began. "Gettysburg is a little town in the state of Pennsylvania. It lies just over the border from Maryland. In the old days fifty years ago, when north and south were fighting one another, General Lee, who was in command of the southern, or Confederate, army, wished to send his soldiers to Harrisburg, the capital of Pennsylvania, to fight the northern, or Union, soldiers there. The Union army, however, met them, and a battle was fought at Gettysburg. The battle lasted for three days, when the southern army was defeated.

"Among the soldiers in the Union army on the day when the fighting began was a young boy, a color bearer. It was his duty to carry the flag, and very proud he was of his post. When the fighting became fast and furious he pushed his way to the front of the line facing the Confederates.

"The little color bearer knew that if the men of his army saw him, a boy bravely facing the guns of the enemy, they would be ashamed to fall back.

"But it happened that in that part of the field there were many more Confederate troops than Union ones, and the boy saw his comrades falling around him by scores as the guns of the enemy roared and whistled.

"It was the hope of the little color bearer that the regiments whose general he knew was hurrying to their aid would reach them before the enemy drove them back. At last, as he saw how few of his companions still lived and were able to fight, the boy stepped out beyond the front of the line and carried his flag farther forward. But the Union soldiers knew that they had lost that part of the field and began to fall back in spite of his example. Carried away by grief, the little color bearer turned to wave his flag defiantly and shake his clinched fist at the enemy. All day the shot had been whistling around him. Sometimes it chipped his flag staff, but it had not touched him. But as he turned to follow his retreating comrades a shot from the enemy's lines killed him. He fell dead still clutching his beloved stars and stripes.

"But he is not forgotten. In the great cemetery that the nation keeps for the brave dead who fell at Gettysburg you will see the white marble figure of a boy holding a flag in his hand and with clinched fist upraised."

FERRIS ON THE
LAW'S DELAYS

It is the idea of Gov. W. N. Ferris of Michigan that the people should demand the same progress in law as they demand in all matters relating to science, to invention, manufacturing, transportation, farming, the telegraph or the telephone.

If they did he thinks he would soon
see an end of the law's delay.

The truth is that while we have discussed law reform for many years
we have left action along that line to the lawyers. And the lawyers have done nothing. Interminable lawsuits do not hurt their business. The fact that years elapse between the time a suit is started and the time when a final decision is rendered may be tough on the litigants, but it does not inconvenience their attorneys.

This is not to say that many lawyers
are not sincere, and earnest friends of legal reform. Bar associations all over the country have discussed the question and passed resolutions on it,
but so far have failed to end the condition. Says Governor Ferris:

"Changes made in legal procedure
do not work for simplicity and speedy relief. Law as interpreted today is fraught with technicalities and legal procedure has a slowness characteristic of eternity. The principle of arbitration has received consideration at the hands of nations. War is an antiquated and barbaric and self-destructive method of securing justice. Why not embody this principal in legal procedure, especially in adjusting thousands of common contentions?"

The truth is that many of these common contentions could be settled out of court by arbitration far more easily and satisfactorily than by expensive litigation. The greater number of the law suits tried turn on comparatively simple questions of fact. Two or three fair minded men could decide the issue just as well as judge and jury. And such a method would save a great deal of money
and a great deal of time.

TO CONSERVE NATURAL FACTORS OF POWER

In his talk before the territories
committee of the senate recently Gifford Pinchot, formerly forester, went to the nubbin of the matter when he said: "Power is the greatest tool of civilization. The curtailment of resources of power is the main reason for the high cost of living."

Mr. Pinchot advocated the retention by the government of all "factors of power," coal, oil and water power. He said he believed in the leasing system of mines. He declared that if the government had retained possession of the coal fields of Pennsylvania, there never would have been such political corruption
as exists today in that state.

"And you all know," he added,
"that private interests have great power in congress when it comes to the consideration of private control over natural resources."

Mr. Pinchot, like all other far thinking men, wants the government to retain control over all the "factors of power" that it is still possible to retain. He wants the Alaskan coal fields leased and the government to operate railways in Alaska.

But Senator Guggenheim and a few other "patriots" of that lofty stamp have fought against the leasing system of mines. Probably, when the direct system of electing United States senators is put into effect, it will not be so easy for such "patriots" as Guggenheim to worm their way into the United States senate.

THE POWER IN THE KITCHEN

Let us give credit to Miss Grace
Abbott for telling the people of Cincinnati that the kitchen of the much labeled American home is far, far from being a "good home" for the immigrant girl who is employed to do the family's cooking and housework.

"It is no home at all for her,"
Miss Abbott is quoted as saying.
"The environment is totally strange and for this reason her life is one of far more danger than it would be if she were to take up her abode in a settlement of her own people."

Miss Abbott might have gone on and told the women at the head of households that they don't hold their kitchens in enough esteem. There are all too many women who say with some degree of pride, "Oh, I don't know a thing about cooking." They turn this most important work of the home over to an inexperienced pilgrim, and the result is that the whole family suffers with indigestion. To be a good cook should be very woman's boast.

This is the way a man put it the other day:

"A wife can cook her husband into a successful career. If she prepares a wholesome, palatable breakfast for him, he leaves the house in good spirits, smiling and confident.
He approaches his work with vigor.
He radiates hopefulness and cheer,
so that everyone near him works all
the harder, as well as all the easier.
Enthusiasm, good nature, confidence
beget success in business."

"On the contrary, if the husband leaves home grumpy, after having had an ill-cooked, soggy breakfast, he radiates gloom over the whole office force. Everybody near him becomes a grouch. There is nothing but friction in the work. No one cares, no one wishes for success—
and success doesn't come."

Now they are trying to prove that Paul Revere did not take that famous ride, but for the general public,
it will always be Paul Revere or nobody. Substitutes do not go.

An eastern man bequeathed $25, 000 to his wife's next husband. The next husband will probably not be at all backward in coming forward.

Brooklyn woman complained to the police that her husband spanked
her every time he got drunk. Well, does she prefer a black eye?

Luther Burbank has invented a seedless prune, which will tend to shorten boarding house meals about fifteen minutes.

The fad of not eating breakfast must be a boon for the lady who has always built the morning fire.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Habits

A habit is something that steadily grows.
Each day it is stronger than ever before;
At first a man treats it as something
he knows
He can easily drop when it cheers
him no more;
"I can toss it aside,"
He declares in his pride,
But he finds when the coils have been loosened at last
That part of his soul has been left in the past.

A habit comes pleasingly stealing along
As a mist settles over a field in the night;
Unnoticed at first, it has soon become strong
And is either an uplifting friend
or a blight;
It whitens or soils,
It exalts or it spoils,
And when 'tis cast off in the moment
of strife
There is something forever gone out of a life.

Our habits, at first hardly noticed, at length
Are things that we lean on or drag
by the way;
They weaken our hopes or they lend
us the strength
To battle courageously day after day;
They debase or exalt,
Each a virtue or fault,
And the man who achieves as a worthy man should Takes care that the habits he chooses are good.

—S. E. Kiser.

Reassuring

A woman hired a taxicab. The door of the cab was hardly closed before the engine started with a jerk,
and the cab began to race madly
along, narrowly missing lamp-posts, trams, policemen, etc. Becoming frightened, the woman happened on the window of the cab and said:
"Please be careful. This is the first time I ever rode in a taxi."
The chauffeur reassured the passenger as follows:
"That's all right, ma'am. This is the first time I ever drove one!"
—St. Louis Mirror.

Envy

"It is vulgar to dress so as to attract attention on the street."
"Isn't it?"
"I saw Miss Knobby going down
the street yesterday in a gown which caused every man she passed to turn and look at her."
"Sure enough! I wonder who is her dressmaker."
"I asked her, but she wouldn't tell me."—Houston Post.

In London

The Master of the House—See here, Mary Ann, where's my dinner?
The Slavey—There ain't a-goin' to be no dinner, if you please, sir.
"What's that? No dinner?"
"No sir. The missus came home from jail this afternoon an' ate up everything in th' house."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Voices of the Night

"Ouch! What are you slugging me for? You've got every cent I had!"
"That's the third car that has passed this corner without stopping!
Darn such service!"
"Phew! The wind seems to be blowing from the stockyards this evening!"
"Mother, he just would stay! I couldn't tell him to go, could I?"
"Gee! There goes the trap; We've caught another mouse!"
"C'mon, kiddo; ain't no cop
in sight! We'll smash 'nother street lamp!"—Chicago Tribune.

Knew It Well

A man who had been troubled with bronchitis for a long time called on a rather noted doctor. After a few questions the doctor told him he had a very common ailment that would readily yield to treatment.
"You're so sure you can cure my bronchitis," said the man, "you must have had great experience with it."
"Why, my dear sir," confided the doctor, "I've had it myself for over twenty years!"—San Francisco Argonaut.

Non Compos Mentis

A commission in lunacy had called a woman to the witness stand.
"And now," said the commission's counsel to her, "what is your ground for claiming that the accused is insane?"
The woman gulped, wiped her eyes
and answered:
"Well, gentlemen, he took me to the theater twice in one week. Each time we went in a taxicab, and we had supper each time after the performance; and each time he bought me chocolates and flowers. He didn't go out to see a man between the acts, either."

"But, madam," said a commissioner, "surely these actions do not prove insanity on the accused's part."
"But you forget, sir," said the lady, with a sad smile, "you forget that the accused is my husband!"
—San Francisco Argonaut.

Few Keep Perfect Time.

One very peculiar idea which prevails about a watch or clock is that when it is being regulated and the hands are moved forward or back to set it, if a little too much is gained the timepiece will continue to gain
or lose, whichever the case may be.
Simply moving past a certain hour
often seems to start the timepiece
to running either faster or slower, as the case may be. But few clocks keep perfect time. Atmospheric and magnetic conditions seem to interfere in most instances.

IN The WORLD
OF WOMEN

Under the will of Signor Cileto,
a Sicilian, who died recently in Italy,
$10,000 was left to promote the feminists movement in that country, and $4000 as a legacy for the first woman deputy.

Coming from a gifted family of Japanese artists, Miss Wakana Uta-gawa represents the "advanced-woman" type in her country. She is going to exhibit her work in New York and Boston, and it is said that although she has studied in London
her work is not influenced by modern art, but is purely Japanese in style.

To further the woman movement
in all its phases, the General Federation of Women's clubs, numbering 1,200,000; the National Council of Women, with a membership of 3, 000,000, and several other large organizations, will unite as the "League of Women's Organizations."

Red Blood Resists Rheumatism

An attack of rheumatism does not guard the patient against a subsequent attack. On the contrary a person who has had rheumatism is more liable to be attacked than one who has not.
The object, therefore, of medical treatment of the disease is to get the system into a condition in which it will resist the attacks.

Thin blood is a condition always present in rheumatism. Medical authorities agree that a disease does the blood become thin with greater rapidity. On the other hand rich, red blood resists rheumatism. Build up the blood and the rheumatic poisons will be driven out. The next wet, damp day will then have no terrors for you.

The Melting Of Molly

By
Maria Thompson
Davies

Bobbs Merrill Co.

"Now," he said in his most business-like voice, as cool as a bucket of water fresh from the spring, "it is no trouble at all to take off your surplus avoirdupois at the rate of two and a half pounds a week if you follow these directions. As I take it you are about twenty-five pounds over your normal weight. It will take over two months to reduce you and we will allow an extra month
for further beautifying, so that when Mr. Bennett arrives he will find the lady of his adoration in proper trim to be adored. Yes, just be still until I copy these directions
in this little, red leather blank-book
for you, and every day I want you to keep an exact record of the conditions of which I make note. No, don't talk while I make out these diet lists! I wish you would go across the hall and see if you don't think we ought to get Bill a thinner set of night-drawers. It seems to me he must be too warm in the ones he is wearing."

When he speaks to me in that tone of voice I always do it. And I needed Billy badly at that very moment. I took him out of his little cot by Doctor John's big bed and sat down with him in my arms over the window through which the early moon came streaming. Billy is so little, little not to have a mother to rock him all the times he needs
it that I take every opportunity to give it to him I find—when he's unconscious and can't help himself.
She died before she ever even saw him and I've always tried to do what I could to make it up to him.

Poor Mr. Carter said when Billy cut his teeth that a neighbor's baby can be worse than twins of your own. He didn't like children and the baby's crying disturbed him, so many a night I walked Billy out in the garden until daylight, while Mr.
Carter and Doctor John both slept.
Always his little, warm, wily body has comforted me for the emptiness of not having a baby of my own.
And he's very congenial, too, for he's slim and flowery, pink and dimly, and as manish as his father, in funny little flashes.

"Git a stick to punch it, Molly,"
he was murmuring in his sleep.
Then I heard the doctor call me and I had to kiss him, put him back in his bed, and go across the hall.

Doctor John was standing by the table with this horrid small book in his hand and his mouth was set in a straight line and his eyes were deep back under their brows. I hate him that way, too, and I would like to get up so close to him that he couldn't hit me or have a door locked between us. It's strange how the thought of taking a beating from a man can make a woman's heart jump. Mine jumped so it was hard to look as meek as I felt behind the circumstances; but I looked it out from under my lashes cautiously.

"There you are, Mrs. Molly," he said briskly as he handed me this book. "Get weighed and measured and sized-up generally in the morning and follow all the directions.
Also make every record I have noted
so that I can have the proper data to help you as you go along—or rather down. And if you will be faithful about it to me, or rather Al, I think we can be sure of buttoning that blue muslin dress without even the aid of the button-hook." His voice had the "if you can" note in it that always sets me off.

"Had we better get the kiddie some thinner night-rigging?" he hastened to ask as I was just about to explode. He knows the signs.

"Thank you, Doctor Moore! I hate the very ground you walk on and I'll attend to those night-clothes myself tomorrow," I answered, and I sailed out of that office and down the path toward my own house beyond his hedge. But I carried this book tight in my hand and I made up my mind that I would do it all if it killed me. I would show him I could be faithful—to whom I would decide later on. But I had not read far into this book when I committed myself to myself like that.

I don't know just how long I sat
on the front steps all by myself bathed in a perfect flood of moonlight and loneliness. It was not a bit of comfort to hear Aunt Adeline snoring away in her room down the dark hall. It takes the greatest congeniality to make a person's snoring a pleasure to anybody and Aunt Adeline and I are not that way.

When poor Mr. Carter died, the next day she said: "Now, Mary, you are entirely too young to live all your long years of widowhood alone
and as I am in the same condition,
I will rent my cottage and move
right up the street into your house to protect and console you." And she did—the moving and the protecting.

Mr. Henderson has been dead forty-two years. He only lived three months after he married Aunt Adeline and her crepe veil is over a yard long yet. Men are the dust under her feet, but she likes for Doctor John to come over and sit on the porch with us because she can consult with him about what Mr.
Henderson really died of and talk with him about the sad state of poor Mr. Carter's liver for a year before he died. I just go on rocking Billy and singing hymns to him in conversation. Mr. Carter's liver got on my nerves alive, and dead it does worse. But it hurts when the doctor has to take the little sleep-

And as I sat and thought how near he and I had been to each myself for running to him with that letter and I acknowledged to myself that I had no right to get mad when he teased me, for he had been kind and interested about helping

SUFFRAGE BOMB IN U. S.

FREDERICK, Md., May 27.—Some broken glass, a smashed electric battery and a badly battered alarm clock near a hole in the ground in a field near the residence section of Frederick were pointed to by residents of the city today as evidence of the first suffragette bomb exploded in the United States.

There was an explosion in the field shortly after midnight and the police and residents found a white muslin strip, 18 by 26 inches, on which was printed "Votes for Women." The strip was near the hole made by the bomb and was held to the ground by a stone on each corner.

FRAME TARIFF CHANGES

Keep your temper. Losing one's temper means losing peace of spirit, losing clearness of thought, losing grasp of the situation and usually losing the respect of bystanders. Yet some foolish people speak of "only losing one's temper" as if it were nothing.

SENATORS MAKING FIGHT ON TARIFF

Senator Penrose above; Senator Smoot below

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Senators Reed Smoot of Utah and Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania have become the leaders in the fight of the republicans against the Underwood tariff bill now before the upper chamber. In the furtherance of this both have made charges against prominent democrats of the same body. Penrose openly on the floor the other day likened Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the finance committee, and as such in command of the democratic tariff fight at present, to Senator Gorman of Maryland, held up to scorn in the second Cleveland administration as the man who stuck the dagger into the Wilson tariff bill.

Seashell Windows.

Seashell windows are used as generally as windowpanes in the Philippines, and particularly in Manila, as is glass in this country, and the effect of tropical sunlight filtering through the silvery grayness of the shells, softened and gentle, is magnificent. The windows in the main entrance of the Philippine General hospital, Manila, are probably as fine a modern example of the use of the seashells as can be obtained. The seashell windows may also be seen at their best in the old churches.

ST. PAUL CLOSES RED LIGHT JOINTS

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 27.—The tinkling of pianos and the laughter of women are absent in the so-called segregated district of St. Paul for the first time in nearly thirty years. Bolts and padlocks bar the entrances of the sixty-two houses constituting the "red light" district as the result of an order recently issued by Chief of Police Flanagan, that all resorts must be closed at midnight May 25.

A law prohibiting the operation of all disorderly resorts in the state was enacted by the last legislature and will go into effect June 2. Mayor Keller instructed Chief Flanagan to issue the order which resulted in the closing of the houses.

It was estimated by officials that 300 inmates of the resorts boarded trains for points in Wisconsin and Illinois.

A striking incident of the passing of the old underworld was the curt ultimatum sent to the Woman's Welfare league, which had offered to provide for the inmates until they received employment.

"We don't need your assistance and are not interested in your campaign," the league was told by the representatives of the women.

exactly seven ounces, this being given me by Dr. Mearns on two occasions when I had fever. The last time I told him I disliked it so I did not think it did me any good and unless he objected I would take tea. I accordingly took tea.

"On very hard campaign trips, on the advice of Surgeon General Rixey and recently Dr. Holbrook Curtis, who attends to my throat in connection with these campaign trips, I have frequently just before going to bed at night, drunk either one or two goblets of milk with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet. If there is more than the teaspoonful I dislike the taste and do not drink it.

"On my ranch we never had whiskey. I never made a practice of drinking at a bar and I do not believe that I have drunk at a bar for twenty odd years. I do not believe I have been inside a saloon during that time. I do not drink between meals or except as above described."

Colonel is Impatient

The colonel took interruptions from his attorneys and opposing counsel with some impatience. His seat in the witness chair was on a level with the faces of the jurors and as he talked he leaned toward them, punching the air with his fist and biting off the ends of his words, somewhat to the astonishment of the slow talking north woodsmen, who speak seldom and gesticulate never.

The colonel with occasional halts between questions went on:

"On campaign trips I drink nothing until, as said above, I go to bed. On almost every campaign trip there will be some occasion on which I stop at a friend's house. Then I will drink a glass of wine or there will be some public dinner when I will drink either a glass of white wine or a glass of champagne. For example, in the Ohio campaign last year, during the nine days I touched nothing whatever on several of the days, excepting at night as above mentioned before going to bed not drinking a drop of any kind until I was undressed and went to bed. The other two days were the occasion when I spoke at Toledo and the occasion when I spoke at Cleveland.

"At Toledo after the speech Mr. Garfield, Mr. Post and I went to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Sheppey, where we met Mayor and Mrs. Brand Whitlock, and we went into the dining room to take a little supper.

There was some champagne and I first took a glass of champagne and then found that there was a pitcher of milk and doughnuts and I took the milk and doughnuts instead.

"On the afternoon of the day I went to Cleveland, I stopped at Ravenna, at the house of A. R. Hanna. There I had a pot of tea and at dinner I believe, but am not certain, that I took a glass of champagne.

Seldom at White House

"While at the White house I never touched brandy or whiskey excepting the mint juleps above mentioned and possibly on two or three occasions when Dr. Rixey prescribed a drink of whiskey once, if I remember aright, for an acute attack of indigestion and once when he and I had made a hundred mile ride together and came in through a snowstorm and he gave me some whiskey and I disliked it so much after taking a sip I would not take any more, and got a cup of tea instead.

"While at Washington almost all the entertainments were at the White house itself but each member of the cabinet gave a dinner and I believe there was always champagne at those dinners and I drank a glass or two, precisely as at the White house.

"Never on any occasion during the time that I was in the White house did I touch a drop of anything during the day prior to being shaved.

Remembers for 15 Years

"For the last fifteen years I can give you in detail just about what I have drunk and I have given it substantially and neither during those 15 years and since I have been in and out of the White house have I ever under any circumstances been even the smallest degree under the influence of liquor.

"I do not remember drinking even a part of a glass of beer except once. That was at the Deutscher club. Whenever I go to Milwaukee I try to go to the Deutscher club for a call. At their request, I think in 1908, I drank a mouthful of beer. They offered me beer and I asked if they could not get me some white wine, saying I never drank beer. They asked me if I would not take a mouthful, anyway, because they said it was the beer that made Milwaukee famous. So I took a mouthful and then took white wine. Then they all sang songs, but there was only one song that I could join."

Cross examination of the colonel began at 11 a. m.

Attorney Horace Andrews of Cleveland, counsel for big ore mining concerns of the upper peninsula, represented Editor Newell in dissection of the colonel's testimony. Andrews' first questions touched what Newell's lawyers regard as a vital spot—the extent by which Roosevelt could be damaged by statements printed in a Marquette county newspaper. Chafes Under Questions

The colonel chafed a bit under suave questioning by Andrews as to the quantities of liquor he had absorbed on various occasions, and thumped out reiterations of his previous testimony.

"Did you keep brandy and white wine and red wine and whiskey in the White house?" inquired Andrews.

"I kept President McKinley's wine cellar that I found when I entered the White house," returned Roosevelt.

PLANS TO MOVE

BIG WATER MAIN

Water Committee Holds Conference with Officials of Burlington Railroad Company

Fearing that the proposed riprap work on the north bank of the La Crosse river planned by the Burlington Railroad company will again break the water main connecting with the north side, the special water committee of the common council yesterday held a conference with officials of the railroad. The city advocated the removal of the watermain to point farther west where it would cross the railroad tracks at right angles, but it was the opinion of the committeemen that the railroad should bear the expense of transferring the main. Andrew Lees, as attorney for the railroad agreed to take the matter up with the railroad construction officials.

A meeting of the finance and ordinance committees will be held in the city hall this afternoon for the purpose of preparing a report on the theater license ordinance introduced in the council several weeks ago.

The proposed ordinance would place all theater buildings, dance, moving picture and entertainment halls under the supervision of the police, fire department and the health commission and would give the various departments the power to revoke a license in the event of violation of rules provided in the ordinance.

in a Marquette county newspaper.

Chafes Under Questions

The colonel chafed a bit under suave questioning by Andrews as to the quantities of liquor he had absorbed on various occasions, and thumped out reiterations of his previous testimony.

"Did you keep brandy and white wine and red wine and whiskey in the White house?" inquired Andrews.

"I kept President McKinley's wine cellar that I found when I entered the White house," returned Roosevelt.

The answer on Andrews' demand was stricken out and this substituted:

"I continued a custom of the White house."

"Who had charge of the beginning of this suit, if you know?" asked Andrews.

"I do not, I was in Mercy hospital at the time."

"Didn't you know Mr. Wajlace had charge of the suit at that time?"

H. M. Wallace is national bull moose committeeman for Michigan.

Roosevelt said he didn't know but that he did not hire his chief counsel, James H. Pound.

"No organization is pushing this suit but myself and nobody will pay a dollar of the expense but myself," declared the colonel with extreme emphasis.

The colonel was then excused from the stand.

Jacob Riis said he is 65 years of age, came to America in 1870 and mined coal when he first arrived. He told of his rise in the world through his work for his neighbors, the very poor.

"I met Theodore Roosevelt in 1890 or 1891, when I wrote 'How the Other Half Lives.' I had become a police reporter by that time," testified Riis.

Since that time, said Riis, he had known Roosevelt intimately.

"During the entire time of your acquaintance with Mr. Roosevelt," asked Pound, "have you ever seen him under the influence of liquor?"

"Lord, no," exploded Jacob Riis. He went on to tell, much as the colonel had done before, of Roosevelt's abstemious habits in the use of drink.

"Have you ever heard him use profanity?" asked Pound.

Defendant Newell's paper charged that "T. R. curses disgustingly."

"By Godfrey" Cussword

"He is a gentleman," said Riis, emphatically. "About the worst word I ever heard him say was 'By Godfrey.'"

bill proposed once made is practically irrevocable. It is a step that once taken cannot easily be retraced. No matter how erroneous such a decision may later prove to be, no matter how soon the people may discover it to be a mistake, or how clearly its unwise may be demonstrated, the privilege of suffrage once conferred cannot readily be recalled. Opposed to such a repeal would stand not only most of its former champions and supporters but all the newly enfranchised voters.

"Were an attempt now made to resubmit it at the presidential election in 1916, I should not feel justified in withholding my approval."

There is nothing to prevent the present legislature from doing this by providing now for the submission of this question at the presidential election in 1916. If this bill so provided I should sign it; but I cannot approve it in its present form."

EXAMINATION POSTPONED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 27.—When the fifteen officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor appeared before the bar of the house today to defend their action in passing a resolution questioning the motives of the house in defeating the initiative and referendum resolution, it was only to have the examination postponed. On motion of Representative Abbott the hearing was postponed until four o'clock this afternoon.

DEFENSE SCORES

IN WOOD TRIAL

Court Refuses to Admit Evidence Essential to Case Brought by State

BOSTON, Mass., May 27.—The prosecution in the case of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company, and his associates charged with conspiracy to plant dynamite, suffered a setback today when Judge Crosby upheld the contention of the defense in refusing to admit as evidence telephone records kept by the switchboard operator employed by the Woolen company. These records, District Pelletier maintained, showed frequent conversations between Wood and Frederick Atteaux about the time the dynamite was planted. The records have been regarded as absolutely essential to the state's case.

As a result of the ruling of Judge Crosby, predictions were freely made by veteran court attaches and attorneys that the case would now even fail to get to the jury, and that if it did, an acquittal was certain.

PROMINENT NEGRO

LYNCHED IN SOUTH

Supreme Chancellor Negro Knights of Pythias Is Taken Off Train in Florida

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 27.—Private dispatches received here today from Milton, Fla., state that S. W. Green, supreme chancellor of the Negro Knights of Pythias, was taken off a train near that town last night by a mob and lynched in the woods.

Green, it is said, had been insisting on riding in Pullman sleeping cars in states where the Jim Crow law is in effect. The Pullman porters who arrived there this morning told of the lynching. They said that Green had left the white coach and gone into the negro apartment when taken from the train.

Green was wealthy. He had headquarters here in Pythian temple, an eight story building and the only skyscraper in the world owned by negroes.

ROAD ASKS RECEIVER

ST. LOUIS AND SAN FRANCISCO RAILWAY REPORTED TO BE IN FINANCIAL DIFFICULTY

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—That the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad company will make application this afternoon in the United States circuit court of appeals for a receiver, was learned today from supposed authoritative sources.

According to information available the proposed receivership was decided upon this afternoon at a conference of large bondholders and several directors. None of those who attended the conference will admit that a receivership was considered.

Failure to refund the debts of the road is supposed to be the cause, the renewal of $2,250,000 short time five per cent notes maturing June 1 being assigned as the immediate cause.

FLOODS POSTPONE OPENING OF LOCKS

Owing to the flood stage of the Mississippi river the opening of the locks in the Keokuk dam which was built by the Mississippi Water Power company at Keokuk, Iowa, last year, has been indefinitely postponed. Owners of excursion steamers and other boats are considerably alarmed over the possible derangement of their schedules and it is possible that several excursions already scheduled from La Crosse may be indefinitely postponed because the boats leased are below the big dam with no way of reaching the head waters.

Congressman John J. Esch today received notice from Hugh Cooper, formerly of this city and engineer in charge of the construction work at the dam, that no definite announcement as to the opening of the locks at Keokuk can be made because of the high water which has delayed the work of completing the dam.

"COASTER TRUST"

First Trust-busting Suit of Wilson Regime Filed Today in Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 27.—The Coaster Brake cases, involving an alleged infringement of the Sherman Anti-trust law, were partially disposed of in United States district court in this city today before Judge John R. Hazel by the entering of a decree dissolving the trust and prohibiting it from doing the things of which the government complained, including the fixing of prices and the regulation of 85 per cent of the industry of the country.

The decree was drawn up in advance and agreed to by both sides before it was submitted to the court. It was satisfactory to the government's attorneys and to the defense.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 27.—The first anti-trust suit of the new administration, with a final, agreed decree, was filed with the United States district court here today. The "coaster brake trust" was the monopoly dissolved.

The government's charges sustained in the court decree, were that the defendants entered into a conspiracy to monopolize trade in coaster brakes and coaster brake accessories through agreements among themselves, formation of an association of manufacturers, stipulations entered into with jobbers forcing them to sell at a specified price and issuance of "special licenses" under patents held by the various companies.

BAND CONCERTS TO ATTRACT CROWD TO MAIN STREET

Band Concert Tonight

As a fitting official opening of the exhibition Andre's band will give a two hours' concert on the downtown streets between 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock tonight. The ideal weather, the music and the illumination are expected to attract extraordinarily large crowds to the shows. Although several of the displays are not quite completed this afternoon, workmen were exerting every effort to have them completed before the promenade begins tonight. Some of the displays are so elaborate as to require two or three days for their satisfactory arrangement.

Members of the board of trade committee and the merchants association today expressed themselves as well pleased with the quick and thorough response of the manufacturers to the merchants' offer of window space and predicted that the exhibition will be of lasting and far reaching benefit to the city in general as well as its industries.

Normal Band Tomorrow

The normal school band which has been giving a series of concerts for the last month at the school campus, will play to the public appreciation on the downtown corners tomorrow evening and Andre's band will again appear the night following. It is the plan of the board of trade committee to obtain the consent of the department if possible to an exhibition drill of the fire department Friday evening. It is probable that a drill and parade of the two La Crosse militia companies will add to the entertainment of the big evening of the week.

Delegates to the Wisconsin Bankers' association and Landingslag conventions which will be here the latter part of the week will be here Decoration day and evening and the committee will make special efforts for their entertainment that night.

The delegates to the Landingslag convention will leave the city that afternoon on a steamboat excursion to Winona and will return that evening in time to join the crowd in the city. The banker delegates will be given a tour of the city in automobiles by the local committee on arrangements.

Several of the best displays are on exhibition in the interior departments of the stores and it is likely that it will require several evenings for the citizens to take in the entire show.

Benefits Already

Not a few of the manufacturers today announced that they have already benefitted by the exhibition of their goods. Several large sized orders for home consumption have been received as a direct result of the window displays. The merchants have also benefited to no small extent by the attraction of the sight-seeing crowds to the business section of the city.

J. L. Utermoehl, secretary of the board of trade, announced today that the committee will begin the sale of tickets for the 6 o'clock dinner which will be held at the Masonic temple Thursday evening.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The interstate commerce commission today ruled that present rates must be maintained as against proposed advances on grain and grain product shipments from Milwaukee, Manitowoc and Kewaunee, Wis., to eastern points via lake ferry routes. The commission held that reasonableness of proposed advances was not shown.

EVANGELISTS FILL

THE CITY MISSION

May Be Compelled to Seek Larger Quarters in Which to Hold Revivals

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Holden, evangelists who are assisting Mr. Dewey in a series of meetings at the City Mission, spoke to another large audience last night, taking for his text, "Where is Your Faith?"

Mr. Holden is not a sensational nor an emotional speaker, but preaches the "old fashioned gospel" that saves and keeps from sin, and the outlook is that the Mission hall will not hold the crowds before the first week is over, and they may have to move into larger quarters.

Miss Hazel Mason has charge of the music and expects to have help from the different young people's societies with the singing, besides which Mrs. Holden will sing at each service.

Mr. Carl's tenure of office of city weighmaster expired with the advent of the present administration when the city council elected John Schnell to the position and cut down the force at the scale house for economical reasons. Mr. Carl's new duties begin June 1 and last until October 1.

M'GOVERN VETOES

MARKETING BILL

Hull's Measure Fails of Approval on Eve of Debate on Governor's Pet Legislation

BILLS AIM AT THE SAME OBJECT

Vetoed Act and Executive's Proposed Law Would Eliminate Middle-man

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—(Special.)—On the eve of the debate over his own pet market commission bill, Governor McGovern last night vetoed Speaker Merlin Hull's direct marketing bill. Both bills aim at the same object—eliminating the middle-man in the sale of farm products—and the governor's action is causing much comment in the capital today.

The governor's general reasons for the veto are expressed in the following paragraph:

Charges Unconstitutionality

"The object sought to be attained by the enactment of this bill is improvement in present methods of marketing and is therefore commendable; but the administrative machinery employed and the limitations imposed make the act both unwise and unconstitutional."

Coming on the eve of the debate over the governor's marketing commission bill, the interposition of this veto is calculated to have a disturbing effect.

The Hull bill gives the industrial commission power to act as a medium for the sale of produce between farmers and the city consumers, the commission to receive the names, financial standing and other data upon the sellers and buyers. Governor McGovern questions the right to spend public money to assist intending purchasers and sellers of farm produce in bargaining with each other. He also objects because, he says, all producers and consumers are not included in the scope of the bill. He says that no one except a limited number of farmers and such purchasers as the industrial commission may see fit to enroll on its "fair list of purchasers of farm products" will come within its purview.

"This being so," he adds, "public money cannot lawfully be spent to enforce it."

Expect Fight Today

Consideration of Governor McGovern's market commission bill was due when the legislature convened today and the biggest fight of the present session was in prospect. With the La Follette members of the assembly strenuously opposing the measure and the McGovernites just as strongly boosting it, while the democrats sit back, confident that they hold the balance of power, it seemed certain that "a good time would be had by all" who loved a battle.

EXPERIENCE OF
TRAINED NURSE

Who Had Troubles of Her Own to Contend With, As Told by Mrs. Rutherford

Charlestown, W. Va.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Calvin Rutherford writes as follows: "At one time I suffered terribly from womanly troubles. Some of my symptoms were hot flashes through the face, pains in my sides and back, headache, dizzy spells and pain low down."

Since taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, I am well and enjoying good health, and I want to thank you kindly for your advice. It certainly has proven a blessing to me. Cardui has done what other medicines failed to do.

I am a trained nurse, and have just returned from a case where I recommended Cardui to a lady and she is now taking it."

In the face of such strong recommendation from users of Cardui—the ones who know best just what this preparation will do for weak, ailing women—no wonder we do not have to make extravagant claims for it.

All we can add to the above statement, is that Cardui is prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet directly on the womanly organs.

It is a strengthening tonic and helps to build up womanly strength.

It has helped thousands of women in the last 50 years. Why not you?

Your druggist sells it.

The Grocer

Next time you phone the grocer ask him to send you a can of Van Houten's Rona Dutch Cocoa. Then make this simple test:

Put only one-half a teaspoonful of Rona into a cup into which you have put one-half the amount of sugar you usually use. Add boiling water and see how Rona Cocoa dissolves instantly. Just sip that rich, Dutch, chocolate flavor. Now you can see why

VAN HOUTEN'S

RONA

DUTCH COCOA

excels all domestic Cocos. In the first place, it's more economical—you use only half a teaspoonful to the cup. And then it's much richer, smoother, finer. That's because of the Dutch process.

FOR SLENDER WOMEN

Yesterday's Corset Demonstration

Sahlin Bust-form Corset

The enthusiasm of the many women who visited our Corset Department yesterday is rather convincing proof of the success of this demonstration. The special Corsetiere whose services we have engaged for this occasion, explains and demonstrates fully the most effective way of building the figure to fashionable lines.

The many slender women among the visitors were particularly interested in the demonstration of the Sahlin Bust Form Corset. There were many exclamations of surprise as it was shown how gracefully and fashionably the slender figure is moulded when the proper fitting Sahlin Bust Form Corset is worn.

Be sure and visit this demonstration. If you consult this Corsetiere, you will receive many helpful hints about the present style requirements and how to attain them. All women are invited to attend this demonstration.

Short Story

DELAYED PROPOSALS

By CLARA INEZ DEACON

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

It was a village with a mineral spring. What kind of mineral it was makes not the slightest difference. The idea is to get a spring the waters of which will cure anything that ever ailed mankind, and the rest will take care of itself. That is, the old chaps who have been tied up in knots with rheumatism for the last fifteen years will take treatment for two weeks and then go home and swear they can jump over a six-rail fence, and be the means of inducing others to come.

There were five old maids in the village. This fact was not advertised with the waters of the spring. The owner thought it might hurt his trade if the fact got out. It wouldn't have, of course, for drinking mineral water doesn't make an old maid of a girl, but many a mineral spring has been killed by taking chances with it.

One of those who discovered that there were five old maids in the village besides a spring was a young man who came from Boston, that the mineral waters might relieve him of some foreign substance which had got into his stomach by way of his throat and was playing hobs with his peace of mind. One doctor had told him that it was probably a frog. Another had strong suspicion that it was a mud turtle. A third contended that he was almost sure he could smell fish of some brand. The fourth doctor studied the case for two weeks and then said:

"There is no use in mincing matters about this thing."

"Then it may be a giraffe or camel?" was queried.

"Young man, you are a sleep-walker, though you may not suspect it."

"So-o-o?"

"One night in your walks you picked up and swallowed a tooth-brush. It is in your stomach to-day."

"But I haven't missed my tooth-brush, and I gave my shears—"

"Well, it may be your shears."

"And nothing can be done?"

"Certainly something can be done. Go to a mineral spring for two or three weeks."

And that's what brought the young man who gave his name as Ray Hadley up to the spring. The frog, or the fish, or the turtle, or the shears, or whatever it was, vanished in a week, and then a fortnight was spent in making the acquaintance of the five old maids.

Mr. Hadley made love to all five. It takes a little more time to court five old maids than one, but a single man at a mineral spring has the time to spare.

Each old maid called Mr. Hadley a charming man. It was whispered about that he was a rich man. It was further whispered that he had never loved. Therefore, he was worth winning, and each of the five won him.

That is, he acknowledged before the fortnight was up that his heart was touched, and the day before his departure he said to each one:

"I am not going to say what I wish to say just now. I shall write it after I get home, and hope to receive a favorable answer."

"It will be so nice!" simpered each of the five.

Besides the mineral spring and the five old maids, the village had a postmistress—Miss Grace Parsons, the daughter of an old soldier. She had held the place for three years when the tragedy of the five old maids came along to raise a row. Three days after Mr. Hadley's departure the five began to haunt the postoffice. They had not been rivals, exactly. While they knew that Mr. Hadley had been rather lavish of his affections, each had solaced herself with the feeling that she was the chosen one.

After ten days of haunting the postoffice, however, each one began to wonder if the other hadn't in some way got hold of her letter and suppressed it. From that they began to wonder if the postmistress, actuated by spite or jealousy, hadn't suppressed all five letters. The thought brought them together.

"She must have done it," said one.

"She don't like any of us," added another.

"Mr. Hadley must have written long ago," simpered a third.

"Men in love don't delay this way," sagely observed the fourth.

"Something should be done," was the firm conviction of the fifth.

Something was done. A complaint was made to the postal authorities at Washington. Five very important letters had very probably arrived at the postoffice and been suppressed instead of being promptly delivered. The matter should be given immediate attention.

The postoffice inspector for that route had been taken ill, and another had to be sent over the route. His name was Royal Dayton, and the complaint was handed to him with the remark:

"Here, look into this, I guess it doesn't amount to much, but it's in the day's work."

And that's how Royal Dayton and Miss Grace Parsons came to meet.

"Why, they charge me with suppressing their letters!" she exclaimed.

"That's it."

"And they are very important personages in this community?"

"So they say."

"But what five persons would want to injure me by making such a complaint? There is not a word of truth in it. I did not know that I had a single enemy."

"Well, let us figure a minute," said the inspector. "It seems that five different persons have been looking for five very important letters."

"Yes?"

"Such being the case they would have made inquiries very often. They are five people that know each other. Can't you place them?"

"Could one of them be Miss Johnson?" was mused.

"Old maid, is she?"

"She is, and—and—"

"Out with it."

"And there's Miss Beck, Miss Smith and Miss Taylor."

"All old maids, eh?"

"All of them, and none of them has a box. Why, they have inquired two or three times a day, and they have looked at me suspiciously when I shook my head."

"And those very important letters were or are—"

"They were flirting with a young man who came here to the spring, and perhaps he agreed to write to them."

"Correct, Miss Parsons. Well, don't worry about it. I think they'll get their letters in due time."

A call was made on Miss Raynor, and she opened up what sort of a letter she and others expected, and three or four days later the five missives came safely to hand. The contents were alike. They read:

"My darling: Excuse delay. Had the measles. My proposal is that we get married in the year 2,000!"

"Did you ever?" asked Miss Taylor of Miss Johnson a few months later.

"What?"

"Our kick is going to get Miss Parsons a husband. She's just told me that she is engaged to the inspector who came here that time!"

NEW YORK, May 27.—Valdemar Stefansson, the discoverer of the white Eskimo, recently announced that he has selected Captain Bob Bartlett to captain his ship on the voyage of discovery into the Arctic, which he is about to take for the Canadian government. Captain Bob commanded the Roosevelt for Peary and won glory in helping the discoverer of the North Pole.

Stefansson hopes to sail north from the northern coast of Alaska into the largest unexplored region of the globe. He may go on till he finds the hypothetical Arctic continent. If he has easterly winds which will drive away the ice, much of his voyage will be made in his vessel. If the winds are westerly then he must go with sleds and dogs over the ice and snow from some point near what is called the "first base of operations."

RADIUM TRADE TO CENTER IN DENVER

Colorado Scientist Evolves Less Expensive Plan to Extract Precious Element

DENVER, Colo., May 27.—That the radium markets of the world will ultimately depend upon Denver, Colorado, for their supply of the most precious metal in existence, was the declaration made here by Rev. A. W. Forstall, S. J., who occupies the chair of chemistry at the Sacred Heart college, and one of the most prominent American scientists who have specialized in the study of radium. It is the belief of Rev. Forstall that the so-called radium fields at Montrose, San Miguel and other southwestern Colorado counties hold untold wealth in radium. The great question, said Father Forstall today, is to devise some method of extracting the metal and preparing it for marketing at 100 per cent less outlay than is now necessary. He believes he has solved this problem and shortly will publish full details of his proposed plan.

The Jesuit priest has worked for years in his little laboratory out in the college buildings. There is something of the ancient alchemist in his appearance and all the enthusiasm of one in his keen eyes. He believes that upon reduced radium the world will depend for its radium supply. Carnotite is lower in radium content than pitchblend, from which nearly all the radium supply is secured today, but the carnotite is more easily reduced and much more plentiful. Pitchblend is found in exceedingly small quantities in Europe, mostly in Austria. Carnotite is found in comparative abundance in southwestern Colorado.

Heretofore almost prohibitive rates have been paid to ship great masses of carnotite to Europe to have the radium extracted. Father Forstall believes he has the right plan to extract the radio-active sulphates from the carnotite before the stuff is sent to be relieved of its precious radium.

"I cannot give out anything now," said Father Forstall today, "but I hope soon to have the correct solution. I know I am on the right track, for dozens of experiments I have made in the past year have turned out successfully. I am naturally compelled to experiment with very small portions of the ores in which radio-active sulphates are found, and of course this makes it absolutely necessary for me to make many more experiments and then work out a general average."

CABINET DISCUSSES CURRENCY REFORM

Official Family Advises with President on Proposed Bill and Industrial Board

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Currency reform and personnel of the new industrial commission were the engrossing topics today before President Wilson and his cabinet. The president outlined to his official family the broad lines of the proposed currency bill. He asked and received many suggestions.

No agreement was reached upon a complete currency bill. It is expected, however, that an "administration" measure will be ready for introduction next week in congress.

The president will spend this evening conferring with Chairman Carter Glass of the house banking committee on the bill. In framing the currency measure, the president is "going the limit" in his policy of exchanging ideas and free discussion of the legislation with party leaders. He proposes to have the senate and house banking committees united with him on a general scheme which will command the support of the party. Upon minor details the president is not so insistent.

YESTERDAY'S WORK IN THE LEGISLATURE

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—Lawyers in the assembly talked shop for an hour last night over the bill by Senator Huber providing for the appointment of a board of accredited alienists, from whom shall be chosen expert witnesses for criminal trials in which the special plea of insanity is put up. The bill was non-concurrent in. Hood spoke for it and Rosa against it. The bill was backed by the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology and was designed to eliminate the commercial element in giving testimony by alienists.

The assembly engrossed the Chinnock bill allowing a candidate for office to get on the ticket by paying a fee, thus doing away with the requirement for circulating nomination papers. The argument for it was that the circulation and signing of petitions had resolved into a mechanical process, and that most singers complied with the request as a favor.

The Landschaft scheme of co-operative credit associations as a means of developing undeveloped sections, was endorsed by the assembly's engrossment of the Don C. Hall bill. Final passage was given Assemblyman Holmes' bill giving the railroad commission authority to supervise the construction and maintenance of railroad tracks and bridges. The assembly ordered to third reading Senator Cunningham's bill providing for the recovery of income taxes unlawfully levied and collected, and the judiciary committee's bill relating to the district court of Milwaukee county.

The senate followed the committee recommendation in indefinitely postponing Senator Bosshard's bill designed to strengthen the state banking laws. A similar bill has passed the assembly.

The senate killed the Ackley bill providing that the state shall pay the expenses incurred by game wardens in defending actions brought against them in their official capacity and a judiciary committee bill appropriating about $600 to reimburse former State Oil Inspector Edward L. Tracy for expenses incurred.

A bill recently introduced by the senate judiciary committee revising the law creating the superior court for Douglas county was sent to engrossment in the senate.

PANKHURST STRIKES AGAIN

LONDON, May 27.—Militant suffragettes today asserted that Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst's sojourn in Holloway jail would be very short, as she would surely lapse at once into a precarious condition. The still defiant leader has not eaten since she was haled to Bow street police court as a "cat and mouse" defaulter and she declared that she would hunger strike until the home office is forced again to release her.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks NEW YORK, May 27.—The stock market opened dull and heavy.

11 a. m.—The market was irregular and weak during the first hour. Uncertainty regarding the position of St. Louis and San Francisco was the chief cause of the downward tendency.

But the Canadian situation also came in for most pessimistic comment. The belief prevailed that the Street would soon break away from the influence of selling movements in St. Louis and San Francisco securities.

Noon—Further declines were noted during the second hour.

2 p. m.—The market continued dull and weak during the afternoon. The stock market was dull at the close and weak.

Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, May 27.—Wheat started easier today on an easier foreign market, but reports of crop damage in Texas, coupled with a grasshopper scare, had a disquieting effect.

Both May and July began advances and at noon May had reached 92 1/2 c, 3c gain over last night's close and July 92 1/4 c, a gain of 3/4 c over the closing price yesterday.

May corn was 1c under yesterday's close at noon, with July 1/4 c under the closing figure last night. Buying was light and there were reports of better crop conditions that influenced moderate selling.

Oats opened easier for May and fractionally higher for July and maintained these levels for the morning session. The demand was slow and reports had it that the weather conditions are more favorable to the growing crop.

Provisions were firm with prices a

TORMEY AGAIN ELIGIBLE

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—(Special.)—University of Wisconsin track stock went up when it was learned that Albert R. Tormey again is eligible for intercollegiate competition. On Saturday he wrote off a "con" exam and drew an "Ek." Tormey will compete in the Minnesota and conference meets, running in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He holds the conference indoor record for 40 yards and tied the world's record for that distance. He has also equaled the varsity 100 yard dash record.

PEEVED AT JOHNSON

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Clark Griffith is peeved at Ban Johnson. After bombarding the American league head with letters demanding to know the reason for Altrock's suspension, Griffith was notified without any explanation that his pitcher had been reinstated. The Nationals manager insists that he has always kept within the number of players allowed by the rules and that Altrock's suspension was a "piece of nonsense."

TOM GIBBONS A NEW MIDDLEWEIGHT

Tom Gibbons, brother of Mike, the famous middleweight, or, perhaps, welterweight, of Minnesota, has just won a fight over a middleweight of ability, old Mike Donovan's son, and thereby he has proved that he may develop into the kind of a fighter his brother promises. Tom is larger than Mike. He weighs 158, and Mike does not naturally go more than 152. Since the younger brother has been trained by the older he has acquired much of the method which made Mike famous.

Watching The Scoreboard

The Yankees tried to win a game on their home grounds, but for the twelfth time failed. Bedient struck out eight men and gave but five hits.

Three errors by Washington gave the Athletics the first game of a double header, but the second showed where the strength of the Nationals is really concealed. Walter Johnson pitched, allowed but two hits in seven innings, struck out five men, got three hits, one of which was a home run and stole a base. Ty Cobb helped Detroit to one run when Crawford scored while the St. Louis infield was chasing him on the bases, but Pinch Hitter Brief broke up the game for the Browns.

The Phillies had to make a driving eleven inning finish to beat the Dodgers, but increased their lead in the race. The Dodgers played a poor fielding game, piling up six errors.

The Boston Braves have helped the Giants out wonderfully in the running and contributed again yesterday. Marquard was at his best but the Giants drove James from the mound in the seventh.

ZBYSZKO SUSTAINS FRACTURED SKULL

MONTREAL, Que., May 27.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries as a result of a plunge from the ring to the floor and alleged fouling tactics used by his opponent, Constant Le Marin, in a match here Sunday night. While his condition is serious, it is not believed that his injuries will prove fatal. The big Pole, however, will be out of the ring for some time.

The men had been wrestling only a few minutes when they plunged from the ring. Zbyszko received a bad cut over his left eye in the fall, and when the men returned to the ring at 10:54 p. m. the referee had to call time and have the wound stitched, as the blood from it had completely covered the wrestlers.

When hostilities began again the Pole was the aggressor. He had secured a partial crotch and reverse half nelson, when the Frenchman, it is alleged by the referee, fouled Zbyszko so fiercely that the contest was stopped and the decision awarded the Pole.

Zbyszko rose to his feet, but tottered and fell unconscious. He was taken to a hotel and an examination by the doctors disclosed a fractured skull.

NATIONAL PASTIME'S PATRIARCH PITCHERS

Christy Mathewson (top) and Eddie Plank.

Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants and Eddie Plank of the Philadelphia Athletics are the patriarch pitchers of the national pastime, but they stand out today among the best in their profession, and it's the fourteenth major league season for each. Plank's greatest year was 1906, when he led the American league. Matty's best year was 1905, when he won thirty-one and lost nine games.

HOMESTEADERS TO PAY WATER COST

Supreme Court Rules that Government Irrigation Project Expenses Shall Be Assessed

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Cost of operation and maintenance of the government's great irrigation projects, until they are fully paid for by homesteaders and turned over to the settlers' associations, must be borne by the homesteaders themselves by assessments, the supreme court decided today in an important test case arising in the Yakima valley of Washington state.

Enormous expenses in the reclamation service in maintenance of the great federal irrigation projects hinged upon today's decision. The federal courts of the northwest decided Uncle Sam must pay the costs and could not levy assessments upon the water users until their contract to purchase the arid land and water rights was completely paid up and the projects themselves turned over to the homesteaders.
